Profile

Jo specializes in contentious and highly complex cases at High Court level and above involving:

- The death of/catastrophic injuries to a child
- Non Accidental Head Injury (NAHI)/ Shaken baby allegations (TRIAD cases)
- Vitamin D/Rickets/EDS/genetic disorders and congenital malformations which can mimic child abuse
- Fabricated Induced Illness (FII) allegations
- ISIS cases: alleged radicalisation of children/ risk of flight to Syria
- Sexual abuse (Intergenerational/ Inter sibling/ maternal rape/ genital mutilation/ internet exploitation)
- Ritualized child abuse/cultural practices such as Kndoki
- Child protection cases involving concurrent criminal prosecution for attempted murder/ child cruelty and neglect/ sex offences
- Parent or subject child with disabilities (with a particular interest in Child in Need issues, learning disability issues and the rights of, and services for, a disabled child and/or adult parent within care proceedings)
- Cases involving cross examination of a child or vulnerable adult
- Re-litigation/challenge to historic findings of abuse based on emerging science/ fresh factual evidence.

Complex private law proceedings involving allegations of domestic abuse and coercive, controlling behaviour, physical, sexual and emotional abuse and neglect of a child or alleged parental/partner abuse). Transfer of residence applications and contact disputes. Jo has delivered training to the judiciary and social care professionals on DA/CCB and Vulnerability following her work in RE HN.

Alongside her practice in the Family Division, Jo Delahunty KC worked alongside Mike Mansfield KC and Barristers from Garden Court Chambers and Doughty Street to represent 77 families at the Hillsborough inquests. On 26.4.16 the longest running Inquest in English legal history came to an end and the jury found that the 96 victims of the disaster who died on 15.4.89 were unlawfully killed and that no fan behaviour caused or contributed to the deaths. Jo Delahunty KC was responsible for leading the team on behalf of 77 families that successfully exposed the failures of the South Yorkshire Ambulance Service to respond to the disaster and the jury found that those failings were so fundamental that they led to or caused loss of life.

Jo has been ranked as a 'Band 1, Leading Silk' by Chambers and Partners in successive editions including the most current

She has been named a 'Tier 1, Leading Silk by The Legal 500 in successive editions including the most current

Jo has been selected by her peers to be included in the Eighth Edition of The Best Lawyers in the United Kingdom for her work in Family Law.
