

Sexual Harassment at the Bar Lecture

3rd December 2018

Jo Delahunty QC gave a lecture at Gresham College, London today as part of the #MeToo movement where she spoke out against sexual harassment around the world and her own experience and said others were suffering too.

Jo Delahunty QC told an audience in the city's Barnard's Inn hall that power imbalances in the profession had paved the way for some women to be mistreated and that the Bar's 'silence' on sexual harassment must change.

To watch the full lecture click here