

Alexandra Halliday writes for the Law Society Gazette

27th September 2024

Alexandra Halliday, provides a review of Roux v MA, a case looking at whether or not the court has the power to strike out an application to set aside financial remedies consent orders.

To read the article in full, in The Law Society Gazette, see Page 25 of the September Issue linked here.